Gwen Van Laere

I am Gwen, a Belgian expat living in Croatia. I feel privileged and appreciative to have been educated in multiple languages, with Dutch being my native tongue. Moreover, I'm fascinated about working abroad and these fundaments can give me the chance to succeed in that.

The curriculum that I went through has resulted in cognitive and rational thinking. Some things that I didn't learn in school - like people skills - I have been developing on my own by leaving my comfort zone, meeting new people and having an open mind towards life in general...

Speaking of developing, in recent times my main interest started to go out to web development & programming. I think that you can never learn enough in life and in this field I'm sure this could be a life-engaging challenge. Ideally I would find a job that contains aspects of all of the above-mentioned.

That being said... Let's have a coffee!
